

Dear Hiring Manager,

I am excited to apply for the Scouting Coordinator position at Vancouver Whitecaps FC, as advertised. With my extensive background in football scouting, data-driven talent identification, and platform development for recruitment optimization, I am eager to contribute to your Scouting and Recruitment team. My experience analyzing players across European leagues and building AI-integrated scouting tools aligns closely with the club's commitment to innovative and strategic player acquisition in Major League Soccer.

In my current role as a Programmer and AI Expert at Gemsy since 2025, I developed Gemsy.es, a football scouting platform that integrates AI and large-scale databases to filter players based on technical, tactical, and statistical metrics. This involved building automated scouting workflows, ensuring data accuracy through cybersecurity best practices, and delivering actionable insights and player reports for recruitment—skills directly transferable to managing and optimizing workflows in your scouting database, generating data reports on prospects, and monitoring player performance. Additionally, as a Football Scout at F10 Scout since 2023 and at CD Mensajero from 2024 to 2025, I have specialized in talent analysis across LALIGA, LALIGA Hypermotion, Primera RFEF, and U-23 players in Europe. I conducted continuous scouting, wrote detailed technical and tactical reports, managed databases for accurate player records, and directly contacted players to assess interest, all while adapting to specific club needs and exploring emerging talent pools.

My proficiency in tools such as Wyscout, InStat, BeSoccer, Transfermarkt, Excel, and Google Sheets has enabled me to optimize scouting processes and provide comprehensive evaluations. As a UEFA C Licensed Football Coach at Athletic Fuengirola from 2023 to 2025, I honed my tactical analysis and strategic decision-making skills, which would support collaborative efforts with your scouts and recruitment team in evaluating players and planning coverage for key tournaments. With advanced English proficiency and intermediate French, alongside my native Spanish, I am well-equipped to engage with global markets and contribute to Vancouver Whitecaps FC's diverse and inclusive environment.

I am passionate about advancing my career in an MLS club like Vancouver Whitecaps FC, known for its rich history and dedication to developing Canadian and international talent. I would welcome the opportunity to discuss how my expertise in data-driven scouting and recruitment can support your long-term strategy. Thank you for considering my application. I look forward to the possibility of contributing to the club's success.

Sincerely,

David Rodríguez Ramírez
